

Written by Paul J. Bucknell on September, 13, 2019

Reports from the Field

Prayer update Sept 5, 2019 (before departure)

The closer I get to one of my training trips, the more pronounced are the sounds of the flights that go over our house. I live in light of the future. Well, departure day has arrived. Soon, one of those planes will be mine! I'm leaving this afternoon.

I do praise the Lord for bringing in 99% of the budget! He has always been so faithful in providing—and so have you! I'm sure He will work out the final needs His way.

I arrive on Saturday night and will start speaking Sunday evening (Sept 8th). Next Wednesday, I fly to a most northernmost place in India to conduct another 3 days of training. Please pray, not just for good teaching, but for teaching that would equip these church planters and evangelists to accomplish God's mighty work among the unreached Bengali people.

Thanks so much for all of your faithful prayers. Linda could use your prayers for her right hip (now that the left hip is much better).